

If you believe incentives improve performance, welcome to the club.

There are experienced attorneys and an association standing between Washington and your business. Through Incentive Federation, they are helping to keep the lid on restrictions that hurt all of us.

If your company believes in business and your right to motivate employees and customers with as few restrictions as possible, you should help support Incentive Federation. 100% of your dues help fund IF activities. And that includes an ongoing program of legislative action that creates better understanding and a less hostile view of the incentive and motivation business.

Everyone recognizes America's need to be competitive, yet some of the proposed incentive regulations would remove important tools that raise efficiency and productivity. Your contributions to the Incentive Federation help keep that from happening. They are tax deductible. This is one of the few ways we have of keeping regulators away from the way you choose to motivate employees and promote your business.

YES! I'm interested in the work being done by Incentive Federation.
I'd like to know more about what you do and how we can help.
